Steve Williams :

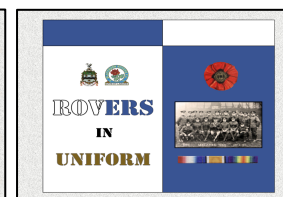

I am a Lancashire based historian, author and speaker who offers entertaining talks to groups, clubs, historical societies, libraries and museums, as well as to Lifelong Learning, U3A, lunch clubs, fellowship groups, Probus, the Women's Institute and the like.

I researched and presented my first talk back in 2003 and since then have presented my talks at venues across the U.K. to audiences ranging from twelve to 250. I spent most of my working life in sales and marketing giving presentations, so feel comfortable doing talks as well as interviews on local radio and television such as BBC Radio Lancashire, BBC North West Tonight and ITV Granada Reports.

Local and social history is my main interest and I like the First World War, railways, travel and football, reflected in my list of talks which I refresh each year. I have written two books about men who fought in the First World War and am currently writing one about Blackburn Rovers players in uniform. I am a keen photographer and avid user of social media, posting regularly on my Facebook pages and several Twitter accounts, mostly history with a Lancashire theme.

I bring my own digital equipment and use the latest PowerPoint and graphics software. My illustrated talks generally last about an hour being aimed at mixed audiences of all ages, focusing heavily on people, places and social history. I am usually free during the day and evenings and can accept emergency or late bookings (subject to my diary).

Charges : Groups and Clubs £55
Historical Societies, Museums and Libraries £65

Travel expenses : I look for a contribution towards my travel costs when a talk venue is more than 10 miles from my home near Chorley.

Lancashire

Unsung Lancastrians

There have been many men and women in the County over the years whose stories have never been told - from entrepreneurs, Suffragettes, social campaigners, newspaper editors, soldiers and even a President of FIFA.

Lancashire Lassies

A range of women from the county - from Gracie Fields, to Suffragettes, Mill 'Girls' and Sportswomen (including the famous Dick Kerr Ladies football team).

Shifting Sands

A regular visitor to Morecambe Bay, the talk looks at the history and changes around the bay from the Fleetwood to Arnside, Grange-over-Sands and the tip of Walney Island.

Lancashire over Sands

The County dates back to 1182 and includes areas "over the sands" of Morecambe Bay on the Furness Peninsular and into the Lake District; the talk looks at its long history.

The history of ROF Chorley

The Royal Ordnance Factory at Buxton near Chorley was one of the largest munitions factories in the U.K. Opened in 1938, at its height in WW2 it employed over 35,000 workers. The factory closed in 2007 with the 925 acre site becoming a new 'Village'.

Along the towpath

Highlights the history of the Leeds-Liverpool Canal between Wheelton, Withnell Fold and Hoghton nr. Chorley, the last section to open in 1818.

Social history

"Keep Calm and Carry On"

The talk looks how Lancastrians coped with everything from the Plague to two World Wars, the General Strike in 1926, the 1974 Three Day Working Week, through to the COVID pandemic.

Four tins

Looks at military and social history using four tins - a WW1 Christmas tin, a tin of emergency rations issued for D-Day in WW2, a coal miners lunch tin and a tin of Heinz baked beans; all have a Lancashire connection.

"Nowt but a Lad"

A very personal talk of my life in Lancashire since the 1950s - from schooldays to my business career, plus 30 years as a football Referee and my interest in WW1.

Football *

NEW

Lancashire Football Grounds - then & now

Features a host of football grounds across the county - from Premier League, Football League and Non-League Clubs; some original, some changed and some long gone.

Preston North End in the Tom Finney era

Sir Tom Finney was one of England's greatest players, playing for his hometown club from 1938 to 1960, as well as making 76 appearances for his country; he died in 2014.

The Ref!

From 1967 to 1996, I spent 29 years as a Referee and Linesman in schoolboy, youth, amateur, non-League football and the professional game, seeing many changes along the way.

Railways *

NEW

Lancashire's lost Stations

Many stations in the County have been lost over the years - from main line stations such as Blackpool Central, country and branch line stations such as Hoghton and Longridge.

Rails to the Dales

The rail journey along the Ribble Valley and then up the scenic Settle to Carlisle line - both steeped in history; the talk mixes historic facts with old and new images.

Rails to the Lancashire Coast

A look back at journays to resorts of Blackpool, Fleetwood, Morecambe as well as Heysham, Knott End and Glasson Dock during the steam era, the hey-day of rail travel.

Lakeland Lines

Railways in the Lake District, then and now - the closed lines to Conistown and Keswick, the preserved line to Lakeside, the narrow gauge Ravenglass & Eskdale and the line to Windermere.

Coastal Lines

Tram and railway lines along the Fylde and Morecambe Bay Coast - Preston Docks, the South Fylde Line, Blackpool tramway, Glasson Dock and around scenic Morecambe Bay.

Travel

Italian reflections

I first travelled to Italy in 1994 visiting Milan and Bergamo. Since then I have visited Venice, Rome, Sardinia, Sicily, the Italian Lakes, the Dolomites, Naples and the Amalfi Coast

Normandy

There is more to the Normandy than just the D-Day beaches. Whilst the talk covers the events of the June 1944, it takes a wider look at the historic region of northern France.

Malta GC

The talk looks at some of the history of the Mediterranean island of Malta - from the Knights of St. John and 'Great Siege' in the 16th century, through to World War Two when the island was awarded the George Cross by King George VI in 1942.

Military *

Loyal Lancastrians

Many Lancastrians served in The Loyal North Lancashire Regiment in WW1 and in WW2 when it became The Loyal Regiment; stories of some of their battles and men who served.

Dunkirk

Back in late May and early June 1940 over 350,000 men of the British Expeditionary Force were rescued from the Dunkirk beaches in France - one of them being my father.

"For you the War is over"

Stories of Lancashire men who became Prisoners of War in two World Wars - from where they were captured to the camps and conditions they were held in, to what happened to them in hands of the Germans, Turks and Japanese.

Blackburn Rovers

I have a number of talks about this famous Lancashire Football Club.
